Fund Commentary and Activity | As of June 2022
Market Update

June was another generally negative month for global equity markets due to ongoing global inflation concerns, interest rate hikes and the Russia invasion of the Ukraine. North American markets were generally in decline with the S&P500 Index down -7.43%, the NASDAQ was down -8.71% and the TSX TR Index down -8.71%. European markets were negative as the EuroStoxx Index was down -8.71% and the FTSE down -4.73%. Asian markets were mixed as the Hang Seng was up +2.08%, the NIKKEI was down -3.25% and the Shanghai Index up by +6.69%. Prices on the 10 year US Treasury bond declined as yields moved from 2.85% to 3.02% by month's end. The Volatility index (VIX) rose from 26.19 to 28.71. Commodity price movements were mixed as Oil (WTI) declined by nearly 8% to $105.76 while Gold declined 3% to US$1,807. The Canadian dollar weakened during the month closing at $1.2873 against the US$.

Fund Update

Against that backdrop, the Kensington Alternative Strategies Fund declined with estimated returns of -1.45% (-0.41% YTD) for June. Compared against the TSX Index which declined heavily by -8.71% (-9.87% YTD). The Fund's standard deviation of monthly returns remains low and the correlation to the TSX also continues to be low.

Our underlying managers' performance was negative for the month as 9 of the 15 managers were in negative territory. Many of the managers continue to be somewhat nervous of stretched equity market valuations and are running fairly flat books. Caution would seem to be at the forefront of managers' activity.

We believe that the Fund continues to be well positioned for these uncertain times. The Fund has now been operating for 129 months generating over 65 basis points per month on average with only 29 down months (about 80% monthly positive results). The balanced approach to the portfolio composition should allow the Fund to weather most storms. We also continue to investigate new managers to try to improve the composition of the Fund.
